

Speedy Action On Coal Control Bill Is Expected

Committee on Manufactures of Senate Considers Measure and Will Hold Three Hearings Next Week

Passage Seems Assured

Walsh Shows Shipping Board Paid $21 a Ton for Fuel in Open Market in July

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Quick action on the Calder bill to regulate the coal industry is likely to be taken by the Senate Committee on Manufactures. That committee, of which Senator La Follette is chairman, took up the bill to-day and after a brief session decided to devote Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week to hearings and after that to begin consideration of the measure with a view to disposing of it. A favorable report is expected. The bill, while it is primarily for complete publicity in the coal business, provides that in case of emergency the President may buy and sell coal and, in short, go into the coal business to relieve the public. It is strongly opposed by representatives of the coal industry.

Try to Change Committee

Prior to to-day there was a movement on in the Senate, backed by Senators Elkins and Sutherland, of West Virginia, to have the bill referred to some other committee than that of Manufactures. The National Coal Association was anxious to have another committee handle the bill on the theory that the Manufactures Committee would favor drastic action on the coal industry. But as much as the Committee on Manufactures has actually started work on the bill, it will remain in that committee.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, former Fuel Administrator, who gave valuable information to the Calder Committee, will be asked to give his views on legislation before the Committee of Manufactures.

Opposition is expected from the mine workers, as well as the mine operators and coal men generally. The reason for the opposition of the mine workers' representatives of the American Federation of Labor at the capital is, that the bill would give the government power to prevent strikes. They say that while it does not prohibit strikes, it does provide that in case of emergency causing shortage of coal to the public the government can step in and take over the coal business. They hold that a strike would be construed as an emergency.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, at the meeting of the Committee on Manufactures to-day brought out the fact that the Shipping Board has bought spot market coal in large amounts at from $16 to $21 a ton. This was between July and October.

Four Alternatives Offered

Colonel W. T. Chantland, counsel for the committee, explaining the proposed bill said:
"As the coal situation seems to me from a public standpoint, this committee and Congress has before it four alternatives:
"First, henceforth definitely to know currently the facts, coupled with power to obtain them, and disclose at once the profiteers, and coupled with other reasonable means, to regulate the production of coal for the government, through the President, taking full control of the industry whenever any emergency threatening the public health through shortage of coal or unreasonable prices arises in the future."
"Second, definitely to fix coal prices, profits and margins at all times."
"Third, for the government to take over natural resources industry completely."
"Fourth, leave this prime necessity, on which the health and even the lives of the people are primarily dependent, in private hands without regulation."

"We believe the time has come when the people no longer will consent to this latter being left unregulated. Likewise, the committee believes that the prevailing sentiment in Congress is against either complete nationalization or a definite price ceiling except as a last resort. With these convictions the committee has attempted to present a bill intended to give the maximum of relief with the minimum of regulation by covering what it believes to be the essentials to prevent a recurrence of the unspeakable conditions through which we have recently passed."

Roads Use 27 Per Cent of Bituminous
A. G. Guthrie, of the American Railway Association, who was before the committee for a short time, said 27 to 28 per cent of the bituminous output was used by the railways.

The National Coal Association to-night gave out a letter written by George Otis Smith, director of the Geological Survey, to Senator Edge, a member of the Committee on Reconstruction, in response to Senator Edge's request for Mr. Smith's views on the coal situation.

The House to-day took a hand in the investigation of coal prices begun by the Calder committee. Representative Walter H. Newton, of Minnesota, introduced a resolution directing the House Trade Commission to furnish the House with all available data bearing on the government's experiences during the last two years in the purchase of coal.

The report, delivery of which was requested "at the earliest possible moment," would be used by the House, under Mr. Newton's resolution, to form the basis of remedial legislation affecting all consumers.

Auto License Plates Tuesday 1921 Issue May Be Had at Four Places in the City

Automobile license plates for 1921 will be obtainable Tuesday and thereafter at three armories in this city, as well as at the office of the Secretary of State, 127 West Sixty-fifth Street, it was announced yesterday. By establish distribution centers it is hoped that the congestion of past years will be avoided.

The armories to be used as branches of the Secretary of State's office are those of the 22d Engineers at 216 Fort Washington Avenue, the 1st Field Artillery, at 128 Broadway, and the 1st Cavalry, at 1679 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn. The 1st Field Ambulance, at 56 West Sixty-sixth Street, and the 12th Regiment Armory, at 120 West Sixty-second Street, may be utilized if necessary.

Plates also may be had at the Long Island Automobile Club, in Brooklyn.

Woman Who Fasted to Save Husband's Soul Begins to Eat

Hunger Strike Called Off After Grand Jury Inquiry Is Threatened; Physicians Ridicule Story of Forty-eight-Day Abstinence

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Ernest S. Harrington, who says she has fasted for forty-eight days in an attempt to influence her husband to join a church, has ended her hunger strike upon being advised by the Rev. G. S. Payne, of Eldorado, to take food.

The woman drank a glass of milk in the presence of the minister.

Ernest S. Harrington, the woman's husband, for whom she declared she suffered the strike, says his wife has "seen the error of her own way and is willing to resume her daily routine of life." He says he has not joined the church and will not do so "until he gets ready." He holds to his oft-repeated statement: "I'll be damned if I'll give in to her."

Mrs. Harrington is not expected to suffer any ill effects from breaking her fast, as it is the general belief of physicians here that she has not been abstaining from food for a week, as she claimed. Immediately after drinking the milk she admitted she felt better and said she would not resume her fast.

Condition Found Normal

Dr. W. O. Dixon, City Health Commissioner, who examined the woman, said he was convinced she had abstained from nourishment not more than a week, and added that her condition virtually was normal.

A nurse employed at the Harrington home this week said she knew Mrs. Harrington had not touched food since a little more than a week ago. Within the week Mrs. Harrington lost a little flesh, developed a slight fever and her pulse was faster.

Kloor and Hinton to Write Book on Flight

Will Share Proceeds With Farrell; He and Wife Lead the Grand March at Ball

The exploits of Lieutenant A. L. Kloor, Walter Hinton and Stephen A. Farrell in the wilderness of northern Canada after the thrilling balloon flight are to be recorded in book form by the first two, it was said yesterday. They have agreed to share all proceeds equally with Lieutenant Farrell.

Lieutenant Farrell and his wife led the grand march at a ball given in their honor last night by the Bushwick Democratic Club in Palm Garden, Brooklyn. All three officers, with their wives and relatives, were guests of honor at the Bushwick Turn Hall, to-night. Mayor Hylan is expected to be a guest.

The report of inquiry ordered by Secretary Daniels to inquire into every phase of the famous flight will convene at Rockaway Naval Air Station at 10 o'clock on Monday morning under the leadership of George F. Kline. Whether it will be open to the press or not could not be learned yesterday.

Husband and Wife Die In a Triangle Tragedy

Children Find Parents' Bodies, Throats Cut; Police Call It Murder and Suicide

After a quarrel, said by their sons to have been provoked because of "another woman," the bodies of John Di Maio and his wife, Andria, were found yesterday morning in their home, 1467 Dekalb Avenue, Brooklyn. Their throats had been cut, and the police say Di Maio had killed his wife, then committed suicide. A knife was found in his hand.

John Di Maio, fourteen years old, and his brother, Anthony, twelve, discovered the bodies when they awakened yesterday morning. They summoned the police and then recounted the dispute which led to the tragedy. They said their mother and father had quarreled bitterly about a woman with whom their father was friendly. The father had ordered the boys to bed. Upon awakening they found the bodies.

When word of the murder and suicide had been circulated through the neighborhood it caused great excitement, and it was necessary to call out reserves to keep back the curious.

Policeman Saves Whisky Four Whose Eyes Were on Tied-Up Truck Are Arrested

An auto truck carrying whisky worth $9,000 stuck in mud on Morris Avenue, Long Branch, N. J., early yesterday. Patrolmen who were on duty at the scene saw five men standing near the truck. They ran, but he drew his revolver, and four of them submitted to arrest. The fifth escaped.

The liquor, according to the police, was stolen from the storage warehouse of U. B. Sacco, on Morris Avenue. It had been consigned by a Kentucky distillery to Morris Weiss, 1000 Park Avenue, New York. The truck bore the name of Donner-Denholz, Inc., commission merchants, of 8991 Thomas Avenue, Newark, N. J.

Fears Police; Leaps to Death Germany Orders Bolshevik Labor Agents to Quit Country

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Russian Bolshevik agents who have been engaged in enlisting German workers for emigration to Russia, have been ordered to leave Germany, it is said in a wireless dispatch from Berlin.

The Berlin government held that the work of these agents could not be tolerated in view of economic conditions in Russia.

J. M. Buckner's Liabilities Are Placed at $1,330,000

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 15.—Despite the fact that assets of J. M. Buckner, bankrupt tobacco dealer of New York and Kentucky, exceed liabilities, creditors probably will suffer considerable loss because some of the stock held by the estate is considered worth only 10 cents. The liabilities are estimated at $1,330,000. Buckner had hypothecated warehouse certificates for tobacco and borrowed money on them. Among banks which hold these certificates are the Equitable Trust Company, New York, which lent $87,000 on $140,000 worth of certificates, and the Shawmut Corporation, of Boston, which lent $108,000 on $260,000 worth of certificates, according to the schedules filed at Louisville.

Girl Said to Have Tried To Hang Herself in Hotel

Margaret Minor, twenty-five years old, who had been a guest at the Hotel Brealin since December 31, was taken last night from the offices of the Vitagraph Company of America in the hotel to Bellevue for observation.

Cost of Living Drops 5.6 P. C. in 3 Months

Survey by National Industrial Board Shows Decline of 14 and 12 Per Cent in Clothes and Food

Rentals Continue High

Some Industrial Centers, However, Report Landlords Making Big Cuts

The National Industrial Conference Board made public yesterday a report showing that, although food, shelter, clothing, fuel and light and sundries, constituting necessities of life were, on the average, 95.8 per cent higher November 1, 1920, than they were July 1, 1914, the cost of living declined 5.6 per cent between July and November, 1920, and the four months probably saw the peak of high prices. The following table was given to show increases between July, 1914, and November, 1920:

	Per Cent
Food	66
Shelter	66
Clothing	128
Fuel and Light	100
Sundries	92

The general decline in prices between July, 1920, and November, 1920, the period with which the report deals, includes the prices of many articles which were higher in November than in July. It is pointed out that the rise was more than compensated for by the drop in other articles. Food, on the average, dropped almost 12 per cent, but that average includes a drop of 63 per cent in the price of bananas and of 51 per cent in the price of sugar.

Clothing Dropped 14 Per Cent

Clothing declined 14 per cent in price, so far as the family budget was concerned, but cotton goods dropped 26 to 42 per cent, and men's shirts and coats and women's blouses and undergarments, 20 to 25 per cent. Coal, it was found by inquiry from 151 dealers, generally increased in price, although in some districts there was a decrease in the price of bituminous coal.

Gas increased in price more slowly than coal generally, it was found, although Fort Worth, Tex., reported an increase of 50 per cent; Albany, N. Y., of 30.4 per cent; Boston, Albany, N. Y., Camden, Newark, Paterson, Trenton, Bayonne, Elizabeth and Hoboken, N. J., increases of about 22 per cent.

The cost of electricity declined in Boston, Milwaukee and Racine, Wis., and in Louisville and Somerville, Mass. "Rent increases," it is said in the report, "continued to appear, but were less sensational than in preceding periods, and for the first time in many months decreases were reported. In industrial cities of Detroit, Lansing and Flint, Mich.; Akron, Ohio, and Elk River, Ind., reported a falling off in rent of 20 to 25 per cent in some cases. The largest advances in rents noted were in Sacramento, Calif., and Bellingham, Wash., where the rise within the four-month period was somewhere between 34 per cent and 40 per cent."

Notable Decline in Furniture
The average cost of all sundries combined rose slightly between July and November. Rate increases were allowed traction companies in important centers such as Philadelphia, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Portland, Ore., and Rochester, N. Y., as well as in smaller places. Practically no decreases in car fares were reported.

Occasionally newspapers advanced their prices. Church and organization budgets were increased to take account of the greater cost of carrying on their work. Notable decreases were reported in the cost of furniture, house furnishings and supplies.

"The decrease in the cost of living since July, 1920, is therefore seen to have been about equal to the number of important articles of food and clothing, which were so large as to offset current increases in the cost of many other items in the family budget. Merchandise dealers especially seemed to expect a further drop in prices of their goods early in 1921."

Willis Says No Clique Will Control Harding

Successor of President-Elect in Senate Is Guest of Honor at Ohio Dinner

Frank B. Willis, President-elect Harding's successor in the United States Senate, was the principal guest last night at the thirty-fifth annual dinner of the Ohio State Bar Association at the Astoria. Benjamin D. Avery, president of the society, presided.

Sensor Willis said that while he was the mouthpiece of the President-elect, he was in a position to assist the next President would welcome illuminating information from every legitimate source. "To President Harding and a bank president will be the same. Each will be protected when he is right and restrained when he is wrong."

Sensor Willis said that the public need have no fear that President Harding will be controlled by any political ring or clique. He said that the President-elect is the peer of all Ohioans who have been elected to the country's highest office.

Army Captain Said to Have Sold Tug Faces Court Martial

Captain Ramon B. Harrison, of the army transportation service in Hoboken, who is said to have sold to a city official of Newark a tugboat for which $10,000 the preceding day, is awaiting trial by court martial on Governor's Island, it was learned yesterday when subpoenas appeared as witnesses were served on City Commissioner William J. Brennan and Fire Captain Matthew J. Quigley, of Newark.

They are the men who went to Hoboken to buy the tug, the Grover, for $10,000, and then sold it to a city official of Newark in a $10,000 boat. Eventually the city bought the boat for $18,500 from the broker to whom Harrison is said to have sold it.

Girl's Golden Hair Clipped While She Slept at Home

Margaret Cook, twelve years old, awoke at her home, 26 Orange Avenue, Newark, N. J., yesterday morning to find her long golden hair clipped from her head and lying on the floor.

Her sister, Gertrude, nineteen years old, a check girl at the Robert Treat Hotel, said she observed nothing out of the way when she got home at 1:30 a. m. The police are working on the theory that an enemy of Gertrude, who is popular and pretty, gained entrance to the house and in the darkness cut off her little sister's hair instead of her own.

Lack of Coal May Change The White Race to Black

Professor Fears Exhaustion of Fuel Supply May Drive Our Descendants to the Tropics

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 15.—According to Professor William Berry Scott, of the Princeton faculty, the man who lives a thousand years from to-day will either have to adapt himself to considerably more frigid temperature conditions or leave the homes of his ancestors and travel to the sunny south and the tropics. This change will be brought upon our descendants, according to the eminent biologist and paleontologist, merely because the present race, with its desire for comfort during the winter months and its immense factories using coal by the ton night and day, will exhaust the supply of coal in the form of bituminous coal, and unless another artificial means of heat is found, compel them to alter their mode of life.

Coal is a temporary thing," said Professor Scott. "Few thousand years, at most, and it will be gone. Then we must learn to get a substitute, and, in particular, then will be the time when the tropics become of vital importance to man. Because when it is no longer possible to keep warm in winters and when the price of coal is not merely high in price, but is prohibitory at any cost, we have got to migrate to the tropics and learn to live there."

"If we are forced to live in the tropics within the next few thousand years there is a possibility that our descendants may change in hue from white to black," Professor Scott declared, that scientists have as yet been unable to discover whether dark skins are the result of generation after generation of life under the scorching hot sun of the tropics or of some other inherent causes. In the tropics the white man does not thrive. Whether he will learn to do so in the future is another question."

Second Fare on Flatbush Line at Foster Av. To-day

Brooklyn City Railroad Company Does Not Expect Repercussions of Last Summer's Fights

The Brooklyn City Railroad Company will begin the collection of a second fare on the Flatbush Avenue trolley line at Foster Avenue to-morrow morning at 5 o'clock, according to the announcement yesterday of H. Hobart Porter, vice-president and general manager of the company. The announcement follows the recent decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, which vacated the stay obtained by the city restraining the company from charging the additional fare pending a determination of the case by the Court of Appeals.

Last summer, when the second fare was put into effect at Foster Avenue, many fights occurred between company employees and passengers. The company was compelled to call for police protection to maintain order. The company finally ceased collecting the extra fare up to 20 per cent in some cases, but the order of the Public Service Commission, from whose decision it appealed to the courts.

Asked yesterday if the company intended to ask for special police protection to-morrow, Mr. Porter said that he did not anticipate any trouble. "My impression is that the people of Brooklyn are willing to pay a fair price for what they get," he said, "providing only they can be convinced that it is a fair price and that they are not misled as to the facts."

Mr. Hobart said that the company had been operating at a loss for some time on a 5-cent fare and the additional fare was absolutely necessary to continue operation.

Financed Divorce, Then He Jilted Her, She Says

Woman, However, Sues for Only $4,250, Alleged Loan to Robert E. Ward

Mrs. Ada Tyler, a divorcee, suing Robert E. Ward in the Supreme Court, waives all possible claims to damages because of the latter's alleged promise to marry her, but asks that the defendant pay her $4,250 which, Mrs. Tyler alleges, she lent Mr. Ward to make it possible for him to get a divorce from his wife as a preliminary to marrying the plaintiff.

Mrs. Tyler says Mr. Ward, in 1918, asked her to become his wife. Subsequently, it is alleged, Mr. Ward confessed that he could not make good his promise because he already was married, although he and his wife were living apart. Mr. Ward, it is alleged, said he would sue his wife for a divorce in Reno, but lacked the necessary funds. Mrs. Tyler says she made two loans to the defendant, aggregating $4,250, of which $700 was to be used by Mr. Ward to shadow his wife. Mr. Ward, it is alleged, obtained his divorce last August, but instead of marrying the woman who, it is alleged, lent him the money to make possible his divorce, he took as his second wife Miss Gladys Campbell.

Dernberg Says Germany Is Cured of Militarism

No Possibility of Her Ever Attempting War of Revenge, He Asserts

MILAN, Jan. 15 (By The Associated Press).—There is no possibility of Germany ever attempting a war of revenge, having been cured forever of her old militaristic spirit, Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, former German Minister of Finance, emphatically told the delegates at the closing session of the League of Nations Societies Conference here to-day.

Dr. Dernberg, former Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to the United States, in reviewing the economic situation of Austria, declared that not even a union with Germany could save Austria economically, but said he believed such a union was inevitable eventually. To this Dr. Dernberg replied that Germany had not helped Austria economically at the present time, as she was too badly off herself.

The Bulgarian delegate to the conference insisted upon Bulgaria's need of an outlet to the sea. Dr. Dernberg, accredited by the Russian League of Nations Society was admitted to the conference simply as a spectator, the organization not having been recognized officially.

Pneumonia Deaths Increase Higher Percentage of Fatalities This Year Than Last

Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, yesterday declared that pneumonia this year seems to be much more fatal than last year, according to figures compiled by officials of the Health Department. The situation, he explained, however, is not alarming.

From January 1 to 15 in 1920, 1,000 pneumonia deaths were reported and twenty-four deaths from that disease, while for the same period in 1921 the number of deaths was twenty-one and the cases reported 203. In 1920 for the period 1,018 pneumonia cases were reported and 498 deaths, while in 1921 the number of deaths was 448 and the cases reported 775.

Doctor's Wife Says He Threw Eggs, but Alimony Is Denied

Court Orders Dentist to Pay Counsel Fees and Costs of Hearing in Separation Case Caused by Dowry

Mrs. Edith Hyman Farber was denied alimony yesterday in her separation suit against Dr. Samuel Farber, a dentist, but Justice Burr allowed her $200 for counsel fees and ordered that the husband bear the expense of having the case heard by a referee. Justice Burr also said there should be no delay in trying the action, as the court did not think that Mrs. Farber should be compelled to hypothecate $5,000 of Liberty bonds, which she owns, in an unfavorable market.

Mrs. Farber complained that Dr. Farber treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner, because she refused to give him part of the $10,000 dowry she received from her father at the time the couple were married, in 1918. Dr. Farber maintains two dental offices, one at 2 East 114th Street and another at 206 West 104th Street. Their first home after the marriage was in the Cathedral Apartments, in West 110th Street. Soon after they married, said Mrs. Farber, her husband indicated that he was anxious to avoid being drafted into the army and asked her to help him escape such service, which the plaintiff refused to do.

Dr. and Mrs. Farber moved to the Bronx. It is alleged by the wife that in the Cathedral Apartments, in West 110th Street, she wanted any, to buy it herself, as she had money. Mrs. Farber did buy furniture, but, she alleged, her husband, on more than one occasion threw it about the house in a very rough way during his angry moments. Dr. Farber also threw things at her, said the plaintiff, including some eggs. Mrs. Farber charged that her husband also struck her and made it plain that unless she gave part of her dowry, he was going to make her life unpleasant.

Dr. Farber denied ever striking his wife or demanding money from her. He explained that he was willing to buy furniture for their home, but that the extravagant tastes of Mrs. Farber could not be satisfied with his income.

Aid Sent Icebound Ship Sixty on Vessel Driven From St. Berian Port Face Death

TOKIO, Jan. 15.—A warship and several airplanes have been dispatched to the relief of the icebreaker Baikal, which broke its moorings at Alexandrovsk, Siberia, during a storm on January 9. The ship was driven out of the harbor and surrounded by floating ice, and is reported to be frozen in the midst of an immense ice.

Sixty persons, including the crew and several passengers, are believed to be facing death from cold and starvation on board the Baikal, and the last radio message received from the ship said that the people on board had abandoned hope. Navy officials, however, are confident that airplanes can quickly locate and bring relief to the ship.
